

We strengthen health through disease control and research

Statens Serum Institut (SSI) strives hard to fulfill our mission, vision and strategy. To guide us, we have defined five qualities that help us stay on the right path in everything we do. The qualities reflect what we expect of ourselves and what the world may expect from the SSI.

PREPARED

As a preparedness organisation, the SSI is ready for the unknown and capable of taking swift and effective action to counter specific threats, be they infectious diseases, congenital disorders or threats in other fields where we make a difference owing to our activities, knowledge and research.

PROFESSIONAL

A high level of professionalism is the foundation for all SSI activities. This ensures the best and most expedient solutions. Our professionalism also guarantees that the world may expect quality and credibility in the solutions provided by the SSI. Evidence and research-based activities are the cornerstone of professionalism at the SSI.

USEFUL

As a public organisation, the SSI carries an obligation to contribute significantly to the good of the Danish and international society. Including, among others, Danish healthcare. Danish citizens, the public in general, international organisations and the Danish Ministry of Health.

INNOVATIVE

The SSI innovates to provide the right solutions at the right time, e.g. by introducing new technologies, conducting world-leading research and constantly striving to challenge the way activities are performed and problems solved in pursuit of better results and higher effectiveness and efficiency.

COLLABORATIVE

The best possible solutions are reached in close collaboration with those who benefit from the SSI's activities and other stakeholders who may complement the SSI's knowledge. The SSI collaborates and interacts within all relevant fields. This is mirrored in the SSI's vision to be "an integrated part of the Danish and international healthcare."
